75th Birthday Focuses Eye Of Nation On Helen Keller

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — Helen Keller, who has done little compromising in her lifetime, did so Monday on her 75th birthday.

She spent half the day — reluctantly — as a public citizen; half as a private one.

After a morning during which she gracefully and obediently posed for cameras in traditional birthday positions and talked with the press, the doors of Arcan Ridge were politely but firmly closed to the world.

Helen Keller went back to work at her desk, catching up with her mail.

Actually, the day was much more complicated than that in spite of the efforts of Polly Thomson, her companion, to make things as easy as possible for this gray-haired and blue-eyed woman who, deaf and blind herself, has dedicated a lifetime to helping all handicapped persons.

Miss Keller, just returned from a five-month, 40,000-mile working trip around the world on behalf of the blind, "is in perfect health and feels fine, but the doctor says that after a trip like that she needs a two-month vacation," Miss Thomson explained.

Tuesday that vacation can begin, but Monday the world continued to press in even after the cameramen and reporters had departed. The telephone rang constantly with telegrams and cables from Paris, Tokyo, Berlin, Brisbane, Bangkok, from President Eisenhower, in New England.

There were gifts, including a huge bouquet of roses — Helen's favorite flower — from a school for the blind in New South Wales; there was a Braille copy of the

State Legislators Vote Selves Hike, Travel Allowance

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois legislators voted themselves a $1,000 annual pay boost Monday. The Senate completed passage by a vote of 39 to 19, sending the bill to Gov. Stratton. If he signs it, House and Senate members elected next year will receive $6,000 a year when they begin their new terms in 1957.

In addition, they get a travel allowance when the Legislature is in session.

Sen. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston) said lawmakers are not overpaid and that many of them lose income from their private business while they are in Springfield. The Assembly meets for a six-month session every two years.

Sen. David Davis (R-Bloomington) spoke against the bill, saying it would cost the state an extra $236,000 a year because legislative reapportionment has increased the membership to 236.

Drinks Of Wood Alcohol Kill Four

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Methyl alcohol drunk at a weekend party caused the death of three men and a woman and made two other men seriously ill, detectives said Monday.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, aged 50 and 49, in whose home the party was held; James Dobbins, 29; and John Brennan, 36, all of Philadelphia.

Methyl alcohol, also known as wood alcohol, is used in some commercial products.

Molotov Likes Chicago Better On Second View

By JAN HARTNETT

CHICAGO (AP) — Foreign Minister Molotov paid his second visit to Chicago on 11 days Monday and said he liked what he saw and "would be glad to return for another visit."

Molotov and his Soviet party of 55 were booted by a crowd of pickets and several hundred spectators at two railroad stations. But he gave no sign that he was disturbed by the demonstrations. The pickets identified themselves as former Lithuanian prisoners of the Soviets and members of the Don Varnas Post of the American Legion.

The Russians are en route to their homeland from the 10th anniversary observation of the United Nations in San Francisco.

After arrival from the West Coast the foreign minister, an interpreter, Georgi N. Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, and two Russian security officers were driven to the Museum of Science and Industry on the South Side where they lunched. The hosts were Maj. Lenox Lohr, director of the museum, Gen. John L. Homer, assistant director of Illinois Civil Defense, and staff members of the museum.

On June 16, on his way to the West Coast, Molotov and his party paid a five-hour visit to the city. At that time the foreign minister criticized the littered condition of part of Chicago's Lake Front Drive. Monday he only smiled when a reporter asked through an interpreter, "How did Chicago look today?"

After the luncheon Lohr escorted Molotov and his aides through the Museum of Science and Industry. Hundreds of children and adult museum visitors crowded around the Soviet party, but a number of Chicago plainclothes policemen and Russian security officers kept them where they lunched. The hosts were Maj. Lenox Lohr, di-

Upper N. Platte Floodwaters Rage Across Wyoming

TORRINGTON, Wyo. (AP) — The flooding Upper North Platte River went on its worst rampage in 25 years Monday in the wake of tornadoes and cloudbursts that cut a swath of destruction across southeastern Wyoming.

Residents were evacuated from sections of Torrington, a town of 3,247 near the Nebraska-Wyoming line, as the river neared a second flood crest.

Sunday night, swollen by cloudbursts that dumped up to 10 inches of rain in some areas, the river swept its banks and flooded three-fourths of Fort Laramie, a town of 300 upriver 20 miles from Torrington.

No deaths were reported as hail and rain pounded a 75-mile swath through farm and rangeland. Damage to sugar beet crops in western Wyoming was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A tornado struck an area eight miles southwest of Torrington and leveled three farms.

Colorado also got heavy rains and windstorms in some areas last night, with several bridges washed away in rural areas north of Denver and motorists stranded for several hours by high water on U. S. Highway 36-40 east of Denver.

Meanwhile, flood waters in the swollen North Platte headed toward Nebraska, threatening to inundate farms and towns later in the day.

A SHOUT, A TRAIN — AND SUDDEN DEATH

SANDWICH, Ill. (AP) — Someone shouted at Miss Catherine Barnes, 80, as she started to walk across the Burlington Railroad tracks in the path of an oncoming train.

She stopped, and a moment later was struck and killed by the east-bound Nebraska Zephyr.

Officials said Miss Barnes, who was Sandwich correspondent for the Aurora Beacon-News until she retired two years ago, walked around a crossing gate which had been lowered.

CIO Authorizes Steel Strike If Accord Does Not Come By Thursday

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steel Workers Wage Policy Committee Monday authorized a nationwide strike, but union President David J. McDonald said, "Don't get the idea we are strike-happy."

The 170-member committee voted unanimously to give McDonald authority to strike the basic steel industry at midnight Thursday if an agreement is not reached on union demands for a substantial wage increase.

The wage policy committee also approved rejection of Big Steel's offer to increase wages an average of 10 cents an hour and an offer by Inland Steel Co. to increase wages about 10½ cents an hour.

Earlier McDonald called both offers "completely inadequate in a year when the steel industry is making record profits."

Shortly after the committee action, U. S. Steel Corp. the world's biggest steel producer, announced that its top negotiator, Vice President John Stephens, would meet with McDonald at 11 a.m. (EDT) Tuesday.

There was no indication whether Big Steel would submit a new proposal.

At a news conference following the Wage Policy Committee meeting, McDonald said he would not necessarily strike all steel companies at once "if such action is required."

McDonald said he is still pressing for a substantial wage increase and added he has never used a cents-per-hour figure "even in negotiations with the companies."

Inland Steel said earlier Monday it was making preparations to begin closing down its steel mills Tuesday if a satisfactory agreement is not reached by then. U. S. Steel said it is giving consideration to such action.

Closing down the mills is a costly and time-consuming business.

Rules Planes May Fly Low Over City To Reach Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — In a decision affecting every airport in the country, a federal judge Monday ruled that the village of Cedarhurst could not ban low-flying planes.

The village is next to huge Idlewild Airport on Long Island. It had passed an ordinance prohibiting planes from flying at less than 1,000 feet over the village.

The ordinance was attacked as unconstitutional by 10 airlines, which were supported by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the Port of New York Authority, and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

U. S. District Judge Walter Bruchhausen in Brooklyn supported the contention that the law was unconstitutional.

Votes Group To Study Ike's Security Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a bill to set up a bipartisan commission to make a thorough study of President Eisenhower's federal employee security program before the presidential elections next year.

In a brief debate before approving the plan on a voice vote, both Democrats and Republicans voiced hopes that the study could be made in a "dispassionate" nonpolitical atmosphere.

The whole question of personnel security in the government was a lively issue in last year's congressional campaign. And the fight has continued here after the elections. Until recently both Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell have said they felt there was no need for a commission to study the security program. Over the weekend, however, it was reported the administration decided to go along with the Democratic proposal for the inquiry.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) told the Senate Monday "security is not a partisan issue." Humphrey and Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) sponsored the proposal for the commission.

The proposal now goes to the House, where the Judiciary Committee already has approved a similar commission plan. Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), its sponsor, predicted House approval without major opposition.

The Humphrey-Stennis proposal would create a 12-member commission with four members to be selected by the President, four by the vice president as presiding officer of the Senate, and four by the speaker of the House. Six members would be Democrats, six Republicans.

The commissioners would appraise the "entire security program, including various statutes, presidential orders and administrative regulations and directives" bearing on it, as well as the measures taken to protect defense secrets, the safety of public and private defense installations, the adequacy of sabotage and espionage laws and similar matters.

The commissioners would be instructed to report by next March 31 on whether the Eisenhower program (1) protects the nation's security adequately, and (2) preserves "basic American rights."

House OK's High U.S. Debt Ceiling For Another Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted 226-56 Monday to continue for another year the "temporary" 281 billion dollar limit on the national debt.

The Senate is expected to act by Thursday; without congressional action, the limit would fall back then to 275 billion.

The bill extends until July 1, 1956 the six billion dollar increase in the limit which Congress approved last summer as a temporary thing.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey is due to start the new fiscal year at midnight next Thursday with a national debt of approximately 274 billion dollars, a billion under the permanent limit.

However, comparatively little tax revenue will be coming in before next spring, and spending will go on as usual.

Ike, Dulles Return To Washington; Talk Over International Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, accompanied by Secretary of State Dulles, arrived back in Washington Monday night after a six-day trip through three northern New England states.

Dulles had flown from Washington to Bangor, Me., Monday afternoon to meet the President and return with him.

They used the return flight to have a "couple of hours of quiet talk" about international affairs.

Both men looked tired when they stepped down from the plane. President Eisenhower, first off the plane, left immediately by car for the White House. Dulles departed for his home a few minutes later.

While on his trip, the President fished, played golf and made a series of folksy, informal speeches. The President told a police estimated crowd of 15,000 at Bangor just before leaving for Washington that Dulles "has come up to insure that my vacation would end and give me a lecture on the way back."

Before boarding the Columbine at Washington for the flight to Bangor, Dulles told newsmen he planned to talk with the President about the shooting down Wednesday of an American Navy patrol plane in the Bering Straits between Alaska and Soviet Siberia, and also about foreign policy developments.

Of the Russian answer to a strong American protest, an expression of regret and an offer to pay half the damages, Dulles commented: "They have not offered all that we consider appropriate under the circumstances."

S. Korea Charges Reds Are Building Army, Jet Air Arm

By JIM CARY

SEOUL (Tuesday) (AP) — South Korea Tuesday depicted Communist North Korea as a land of starvation, rampant crime and executions and charged the Reds with rapidly building up a 600,000-man army and jet air force.

The Republic of Korea government repeatedly has charged the Reds with violating the Korean armistice by building up ground and air forces.

Monday the ROK Office of Public Information issued a 14-page document quoting two officers of the North Korean air force who fled to Seoul last Tuesday in a Russian-made Yak fighter.

Interviewed by Dr. Hongkee Karl, government spokesman, the two were identified as Capt. Lee Un Yong and 1st Lt. Lee Eung Sung. Correspondents have not been permitted to talk to them.

The document said the fliers gave this picture: That North Korea has a 25,000-man air force with 300 MIG-15 jets, 120 bombers, 100 fighter-bombers and more planes arriving regularly from Russia — all in violation of the Korean armistice.

That North Korea has 15 air bases, 60 combat divisions and is receiving new Russian catapult-type guns mounted on trucks.

TAIPEI, Formosa (Tuesday) (AP) — Communist MIG jet fighters shot down a Nationalist jet trainer Monday and attacked an unarmed amphibious commercial plane in an abrupt flareup of warfare over the Formosa Strait.

Chinese Nationalist air force headquarters said intercepted intercom conversations between the MIGs indicated the pilots were Russians. The air force asserted also that fluent Russian was overheard in the directions from the ground to the attacking MIGs.

The Defense Ministry assailed the incidents as "unprovoked attacks by Communist jets on unarmed Chinese aircraft over international waters." It said the pilot was killed in the crash of his flaming jet when it plunged into the sea north of the Matsus. The other trainer escaped.

The ministry reported a two-engine PBY Catalina amphibian owned by the Foshing Airlines was attacked by two MIGs about 12:30 p. m. while bound for Matsu. Aboard were four Chinese crew members and 1st Lt. John J. Goodrich, 26, Rayne, La., Medical Corps member of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group.

Newsman were not permitted to talk with Goodrich. The airline reported he was en route to Matsu to examine some seriously ill Nationalist soldiers.

The attack occurred off Tungshan (East White Dog Island), 11 miles south of Matsu and about 14 miles off the mainland. The pilot, Chen Kuo-min, 43, who once resided in Hartford, Conn., said the red-starred jets made four firing passes, hitting the Catalina on the first one.

The pilot landed near the island, checked the plane, waited for dark and returned to Taipei's Pinehill Airport Monday night.

He said none aboard was hurt. The Catalina took bullet holes in the left wing and float and a spar was damaged.

"The whole thing was over in three or four minutes," Chen told newsmen here. "I landed the plane and we waited until it was dark and returned to Taipei's Pinehill Airport Monday night."

Editorial Comment

HEY, MOLY, SMILE PRETTY

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's trip across America to the U.N. celebration at San Francisco was plainly designed as a sort of Russian good-will tour.

He made a special point of visiting the American section in New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art. Asked what he had liked best in the museum he said the American works.

Not long after that, he took in a steel mill in Chicago, and then snarled that city's traffic by taking a mile and a half stroll along its Lake Michigan shore.

By this time the next step was almost predictable. Sure enough, he turned up in a 10-gallon hat in Wyoming. Shrewd advice probably kept him from donning Indian feather's. That's U. S. presidential stuff.

The whole journey was brought off so neatly, if somewhat obviously, that one can't help suspect that the Kremlin's equivalent of our Madison Avenue ad boys regard this as one of their largest triumphs.

THORNS STILL PRICKING

Remember Quemoy and Matsu?

Just a few months ago these tiny islands off the mainland Chinese coast seemed to be the center of the universe. But lately they haven't even been making the back pages of the newspaper.

This doesn't mean, however, that they have been forgotten by the statesmen of the free and Communist nations. We can be sure they were very much in the lime-light of the recent discussions between top American officials and V. K. Krishna Menon, India's U.N. delegate who conferred not long ago with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Menon, no friend of the United States in the past, has given indication that he is leaning over backward to qualify as a genuine intermediary in the smoldering dispute over Quemoy, Matsu and Formosa.

India's formal position has long been that Red China is entitled to all these islands. Realistically, however, they understand that the United States has no intention of yielding Formosa, a bastion of its Pacific defense.

So Menon undoubtedly is not urging such an arrangement as part of a proposed Formosan settlement with Peiping. But it would be surprising if he were not suggesting we hand over Quemoy and Matsu without a fight.

As a matter of fact, there has been evidence over the months that this country does not want to risk war to hold the coastal islands within Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist fold.

The problem at all times has been how to let them go without doing great damage to Chiang's regime. At the best it is realized the loss of these islands would cast a dark cloud over his future. At the worst he could be tumbled out of power at an early time.

The apparent goal is to get Chiang himself to agree to evacuation of the islands, as he did reluctantly in the case of the Tachens earlier in 1955.

This will not be easy, for Chiang's prestige is now heavily committed in Quemoy and Matsu. The ironic thing is that we are largely responsible for the fact that this is so.

In the first years after Chiang fled to Formosa from the conquered mainland, he had only light defenses on the coastal islands. It was at American insistence that he beefed up the coastal outposts.

One can understand his puzzlement, even his bitterness, that we now wish him to reverse his field and get off the islands. A few years ago he could have done it quietly, without measurable loss of prestige.

We may in the end get our way. But if we do it will be clear to all who know the workings of diplomacy that we have accomplished our objective crudely, with real damage to an ally and to ourselves.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a time there were two little mice, and one was named Oswald — and he whispered to the other, "Harriet."

When he called her name she heard it like the tinkling summons of a three-syllabled bell. "Harriet," he called, and she ran to the wire restraint of her laboratory cage. Across a small space she could see Oswald, running up and down his wire cage and sticking his eager pink muzzle through at her.

She thought modestly — but still excited — that in all her born days she had never seen a mouse with quite such gay whiskers. Her heart rose and fell as Oswald's whiskers did. She felt she must brush them or die.

All of a sudden Oswald and Harriet were plumped into a darkened case. They felt movement, heard the dull plop feet in sand — and —

A miracle — light dawned — they saw each other again left alone in a strange house on a strange floor. They scurried to a corner as mice do, and looked around.

Why this was heaven — food scattered around and no traps to worry about. The two little mice ran toward each other.

"Harriet!" cried Oswald, and each syllable was a bell tone. "I'll bet you can't gallop like a pony." "Oh, yes, I can," she answered, blushing. And with no other word she held out her tiny paw, and he took her paw in his paw, and around and around they pranced like miniature ponies.

They swirled into the living room, and saw four gangling people — a father, mother and two children — sitting wide-eyed and silent on a sofa.

The two mice ran from them with quaking hearts and hid under a chair.

"Are they human?" asked Harriet. "They don't move."

"They can't be human," replied Oswald, "because there are four of them — and not one is complaining."

Actually, the four family figures were clothing store dummies. They and the mice had been put there for a purpose, but neither dummies nor mice knew why.

"Oh, Harriet," sighed her belated lover, "let us dance like ponies again."

Her small warm paw crept back again into his paw. But just as they were ready to dance again together there was a sudden dull boom outside. The windows splintered around them, the ceiling caved in. Beams crashed down. Falling plaster raised a dust.

Harriet and Oswald scurried outside. A tremendous mushroom grew in the sky above them. Swiftly behind the clearing atomic cloud moved in two circling hawks.

Terrified in a falling world, Harriet left the broken shelter of the comfortable house and ran outside. Oswald ran after her.

One hawk peeled off and dived and as he engulfed her she cried weakly: "Oswald, Oswald," and then the second hawk hit Oswald and the last sound she heard was him calling "Harriet, my Harriet," and then the tinkling ceased.

Above them the mushroom cloud sprawled higher in lazy power. As it blew away the human engineers moved in to see what had happened to the test house. They had Geiger counters to test the shattered dummies in the home, but none that could plumb the sky or the fate of Oswald and Harriet. Moral: Beware of hawks.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It doesn't take long for the Communist line to be passed down. When Red party boss Nikita Khrushchev let it be known on his recent visit to Yugoslavia that public-livin'-it-up was the latest technique for winning friends for the Soviet Union, Red Ambassador to Washington Georgi Zaroubin picked up the idea in a hurry.

He has been hitting the party circuit here regularly since Khrushchev showed the way, and cutting quite a figure at that. The only form of gaiety he has drawn the line on is doing the mambo.

The other night at a dance given by the Uruguayan embassy Zaroubin was the center of interest, dressed in a well-cut white dinner jacket, pouring down the champagne and going after the turkey and ham like a veteran. But every time someone suggested he dance the mambo, he refused.

That could have been because the music was furnished by the U.S. Air Force Band whose members kept a hostile eye on him.

LIKE MAY DRAW a little water under this town, and George Humphrey may control the purse strings. But they're currently small — time compared to John Spender, Jr., son of the Australian ambassador; John Stennis, son of the Mississippi senator; and Maurice and John Hearne, sons of the Irish ambassador.

These handsome lads have been rated the prize catches of the year by the deb crew, and if one or more of them doesn't show at a coming-out party, the poor girl might just as well retire to the hills.

YOU CAN'T CONVINCE Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) that the Post Office Department isn't on the ball. A few days ago a letter came to his office which was simply addressed: Mr. Norris Cotton W.D.C.

IT COSTS ABOUT five bucks per guest to throw a reception with liquor and food at the better hotels here. It costs about four bucks at the exclusive private clubs. The equivalent of dining and can be done at the military officers' clubs for three.

That's why the hotels are protesting to District liquor officials and to Congress. More and more entertaining by government officials is being done at officers' clubs. And, increasingly, hostesses are ignoring the hotel and using such swank digs as the P-Street Club for their parties.

Inkeepers gripe that the military clubs don't have to pay the same taxes as hotels and that the private clubs don't have licenses for this kind of party business.

ASSESSING THE SUCCESS of the recent civil defense exercise which sent 15,000 top U. S. officials to hideouts out of town for three days, the government workers left behind agree that it is the greatest idea for improving working conditions since the advent of the coffee break.

The benefits on employee morale of getting the bosses out of town for a few days might end up being far greater than those imagined for civil defense preparedness.

You could have been a Russian general, charged into the Pentagon and shouted, "Surrender!" and you wouldn't have gotten a rise out of anyone. It was that relaxed.

We asked the information desk who was in command with Charlie Wilson away. "You'll have to ask Mr. Wilson that, he took the job with him," was the prompt reply. "We're dead."

Incidentally, the Federal Civil Defense Administration is giving the State Department three demerits for the way Acting Secretary Herbert Hoover, Jr., departed. Before the alert he rode down an elevator from his fifth floor suite. This was strictly against the rules. Theoretically the elevators were reserved for the wounded.

THE BRITISH EMBASSY has finally recognized the plight of the stag females at a party. And there are plenty of them. The embassy has designated its male staff members as "spotters" or "first-aid" men.

When they see a lonely dame wandering around without a drink or conversation, they move in to offer both. The drink problem for a lone female at a party is especially tough. At most receptions you have to be a football player to buck the crowd around the bar.

Colon Ills Are Embarrassing As Well as Uncomfortable

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

"What would cause my stomach to rumble and roll excessively?" writes R. K. "I experience no pain but it is often embarrassing as it can be heard by others" the writer continues.

Most probably this is the condition known as spastic colon or irritable bowel from which hundreds of thousands of people suffer more or less and about which I have written on many occasions.

Discomfort is present more commonly than seems to be the case with the writer of the question. Those who are afflicted with spastic colon usually do suffer from some vague distress and pains in the abdomen. Often too, this is accompanied by alternating periods of diarrhea and constipation.

EITHER THIS DISORDER is more common in modern civilization than it used to be or more people complain about it than in the past.

Quite likely it is related to the tense pace and nervous strain of city living. However, whether it is purely of nervous origin or not no one knows for certain. It does not lead to serious disease like cancer. It is always worsened by emotional upsets or by eating undesirable foods.

The pain and discomfort may be felt all over the abdomen or just in some parts, most commonly in the lower portion. All too often the symptoms go on for years with periods of partial recovery and then a relapse. Attacks may persist for anywhere from a few minutes to several months.

WHEN PAIN IS PRESENT, it is gripping and crampy in nature. People often complain of bloating and of gurgling sounds. The discomfort may be so bad that it disturbs the sleep.

Many victims blame this condition on constipation and are likely to take a cathartic. This tends to make the symptoms worse.

Worry, emotional upset, or anxiety frequently come on just before an attack. Exposure to cold, fatigue, excessive smoking, laxatives and certain kinds of food also bring on the symptoms.

An irritable colon does not mean that disease is present. There is, rather, a disturbance in the action of the intestines and medical treatment rather than surgery is what is necessary.

PHYSICIANS TRY to get to the bottom of the mental worry or tension which is making the colitis worse. Also, it is advisable to find out whether someone with spastic colon has anything wrong with his or her glands of internal secretion.

Certain drugs may be helpful. The diet is also extremely important — vegetables and many fruits usually increase the irritation.

Spastic colon does not have any influence on the duration of life in spite of the distress which it causes. It is, with some exceptions, more of an annoyance than a serious disease.

Manners Make Friends

Occasionally it is impossible for a person to keep an appointment. But if it can't be kept the person it is with should be notified as early as possible.

You may not be able to help breaking an appointment but there is rarely an excuse for not telephoning to say that you won't be where you are supposed to be at a certain time.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Monty Woolley was seated in his hotel room and complaining as usual — about his film role, hotel living, television, and bores in bars.

A chronic complainer, the bearded actor was in fine fettle. He growled about coming to California for the role of Omar Khayyam in MGM's "Kismet."

"It's a small role; I don't even know why they need me," he remarked. "I thought at least they'd have me reciting some of Omar Khayyam, but they don't even have any of that. And I certainly don't sing."

"The bad thing about it is that although I have only a little to do, it's at the beginning and end of the shooting. That means I have to wait around until they finish with the other stuff. People say I shouldn't complain because I'm getting paid for waiting. But do you know what it costs to live in a hotel? It's monstrous!"

Woolley said he hadn't been well at all. He had a bad sinus condition which affected his inner ear and caused vertigo. The sudden death of Walter Hampden also shook him.

He added that his wellbeing wasn't helped by his early scenes in "Kismet." The first day's work had him and Vic Damone in a mob scene. He had to fall on Damone and then several extras toppled on both. He suffered through nine takes of such undignified and strenuous goings-on.

"And the next day I spent most of my time racing up a staircase and shouting," he added. "Finally I told the director, Vincente Minnelli, that I had no voice left; I was hoarse."

"That's fine," Minnelli replied. "That's the way you should be." Woolley reported that he has been spending most of his time at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where he has resided a good deal of his life. He said he has not been well enough to attempt a return to the stage. He did one TV show, a recreation of his great hit, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." About live TV — "never again."

"It was awful — simply awful," he declared. "You simply can't condense a play like that into 45 minutes. It's impossible."

Woolley generally spends his evenings here in his two favorite haunts, Romanoff's or Larue's restaurants. He is a familiar figure, sitting at the bar alone.

He likes to be alone. He prefers to sit at the bar with Toynbee's "A Study of History" or some other tome, rather than converse with human beings.

Many folks fail to realize this. Seeing the famous beard, they decide he is lonely and they ask him to join them. Usually he declines politely. Some bibulous characters are insistent. He withers them with a Woolleyism and returns to his reading.

"I don't like to eat with other people," he explained. "Most people like to have a drink and eat. I like to stretch the cocktails out leisurely."

He is so set in this pattern that his friends call him the man who won't come to dinner.

Husband's Chance Remark Can Contain Dynamite

"Now what have I said wrong?" bewildered husbands often ask themselves after their wives take offense for what seems to the husband like no reason at all.

But any woman knows there is marital dynamite in all of these perfectly "harmless" remarks.

"Is that what you are going to wear?" — asked of a wife who is all dressed for a party and a moment before was perfectly pleased with the dress she had on.

"I wish you'd teach my wife how to do that" — spoken to another woman in front of the wife. It doesn't matter whether the husband is praising another woman's cooking or her ability to paint a room or make ship covers, no wife wants her husband thinking another woman could teach her anything.

"What are you being so fancy for?" — asked of the wife who has knocked herself out to set an impressive table for a guest she wants to thank she hasn't gone to any special trouble.

THOUGHTLESS, BUT COSTLY REMARKS: Saying to drop-in guests who happen by on the day the lady of the house has planned to serve left-overs for supper: "Don't go. Why not stay and have supper with us?"

Remarking on a photograph or snapshot taken of the wife 10 years and at least 10 pounds ago. "Boy, you certainly were a knockout THEN." Saying "That wasn't exactly the way it happened" when a wife has improved on the facts a little in order to make a good story.

Husbands who make these perfectly harmless remarks never seem to understand what their wives are upset about.

The Mature Parent
To Give Eddie Your Approval
You Have to Believe in It
BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Secretly, Eddie's mother doesn't like him much. I don't wonder. He's a very exhausting little boy.

He'll choose the exact moment she's feeding a spoonful of pureed apricots to his baby sister's mouth to snatch the rubber doll she's holding and run out with it to the yard. He fights refusals of anything from a presupper cookie to jumps from the porch railing.

Talking "nicely" to him gets you nowhere. No matter what his mother does to make obedience palatable, he wants no part of it. Secretly, 20 times a day, she thinks, "His own way. That's what he wants, nothing else."

Yet, a thousand times she has read these words in her child guidance books: "A child, above all else, wants your approval."

Eddie's mother just doesn't believe them. How could she? She doesn't think her good opinion is worth much to anyone. So it is very easy for Eddie to convince her that he prefers a rubber doll to her approval.

If we have grown up with a greedy authority, it's difficult to respect our approval. For the authority demanded approval of what it wanted, denying it pretty generally to what we wanted. As a result, we had little experience in developing respect for our opinions.

So the true words in the child guidance books mean nothing to us. We just can't imagine that our approval could be of surpassing importance to Eddie. As we scorn its value, we're sure he does.

This contempt for our good opinion makes life with Eddie exhausting. Let's not put up with it, but sincerely ask ourselves the question: "Is it a fact that I devalue the worth of my approval to this child?"

It could stimulate thought like this: "If I could believe my good opinion is so valuable to Eddie, I can see how it would surely simplify my life. It would strengthen me to stand firm on my 'No' to a presupper cookie, instead of letting him wheedle or bully me out of it as I do now — and hating him for getting away with it."

"Knowing he wanted my approval more than the baby's rubber doll, I could run out into the yard after him — and remove the rubber doll. Why, I could even do this kindly, were I certain that my kindness, not the doll, was what he wanted."

"Yes," we might think, "I can see that if I could believe this, I'd have just what I need to stop Eddie's misbehavior before disapproval of it overwhelms me."

This train of thought could be quite productive.

Those words in the child guidance books hold the solution to many problems. But if we feel contempt for our approval, they're just fancy talk. We just can't credit the child with any interest in it at all.

Fourth of July Is the Day For Cooling Fruit Drinks

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

The tinkle of ice and tall glasses of fresh fruit drinks will be a welcome sound over the 4th — a welcome sound on any hot day. Frozen concentrate for lemonade from California provides fine fresh flavor for these drinks and is so much easier than squeezing lemons.

Red Strawberries in Lemonade. Fresh strawberries, frozen concentrate for lemonade, cracked ice. Make a pitcherful of lemonade by adding water according to the directions on the can of frozen concentrate. Wash and hull strawberries. Then, in tall glasses, layer the strawberries in cracked ice (this way they will stay floating in the glass and not sink). Fill glasses with lemonade, and serve.

Raspberry Lemonade Crush. (Individual Serving) Two tablespoons mashed, sweetened raspberries, 2 tablespoons frozen concentrate for lemonade, crushed ice, plain or sparkling water.

Mash raspberries and sweeten to taste. In each tall glass use 2 tablespoons of the crushed raspberries and 2 tablespoons of undiluted concentrate for lemonade. Fill each glass with crushed ice and plain or sparkling water. Stir and serve immediately.

Lemonade and Grape Juice. Lemonade and grape juice have a real taste affinity. For a cool, refreshing summer drink, place 2 or 3 tablespoons frozen concentrate for lemonade in bottom of a tall glass; fill glass with grape juice and ice.

Tropical Punch. (Yield: Slightly more than 1 quart)

One (6-ounce) can frozen concentrate for lemonade, 1 (6-ounce) can frozen pineapple juice, ice cubes, 1 tall bottle sparkling water.

Combine concentrate for lemonade with pineapple juice. Mix well; add ice cubes and sparkling water.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Ham steak, creamed potatoes, corn on cob, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, lemon sherbet,

Wood Duck Population Continues To Dwindle

By ARTHUR THATCHER

JERSEYVILLE — An extensive survey will be made in the near future in the Marquette Wild Life preserve to determine the number of wood ducks in the area. The dwindling numbers of the species has created the need for a strict protection of those remaining, and the Federal Government is compiling facts regarding the situation.

Last season the Federal Government removed the wood duck from the list of waterfowl that could be shot during the open period on various species.

A few years ago, it was comparatively easy to find several hundred wood ducks in the Marquette refuge. The species nested extensively in the area and it was easy to find several dozen nesting sites.

Federal Warden Edward Davis of Jerseyville reported several weeks ago that he had been able to locate only two wood ducks in the refuge. He stated at the time that the species was nesting and that there might be a number not accounted for.

Davis stated Saturday that the number of known birds in the locality is now listed as five pairs with their broods, and he is hopeful that others may be reported.

"The nesting season is generally at an end by this time of the year," Davis stated, "but some birds may nest the second time when their eggs are broken up at the time of the first season by predators or for other reasons. In such cases, the nesting season may extend much later than the usual period."

Davis stated that many residents of the wild life refuge are aiding in keeping an eye on the wood ducks in the area. Included in the observers are men working in the open such as fishermen, timber workers and farmers.

"The Most Beautiful"

The wood ducks for many decades have been alluded to as the most beautiful of ducks. An old natural history published in 1879 describes the habitat of the species as extending from the cold regions of Hudson's Bay in the 64th parallel to Mexico and the Antilles. "Throughout a great part of this vast space or at least as far south as Florida and Mississippi territory," stated the publication, "the Summer Duck or Wood Duck is known to breed. In the interior they are also found in the State of Missouri, and along the woody borders and still streams which flow into most of the great northwestern lakes of the St. Lawrence. The Summer Duck, so called from its constant residence in the United States, has indeed little predilection for the sea coast, its favorite haunts being the solitary, deep, and still waters, ponds, woody lakes and the mill dams of the interior, making its nest often in decayed and hollow trees impending over the water."

The publication also stated interesting facts as follows: The eggs 12 or 13 are yellowish white, rather less than those of the domestic hen and they are usually covered with down, probably plucked from the breast of the parent. The same tree is sometimes occupied by the same pair for several successive years.

A recent book of birds published several years ago states: "No self respecting sportsman would touch the little wood duck, the most beautiful member of its family group. It is as choicely colored and marked as the Chinese Mandarin duck, and a possible possession for every one who has a country place with woods and water on it."

FOR THE BIRDS

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP) — Norman Allen, a firecracker distributor, offers a rope to hang those crop pests—the blackbirds. The law prohibits killing them. Allen devised a firecracker bird rope from an idea originated by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and county agents. It consists of a five-foot length of five-sixteenth-inch cotton plow line, with specially made firecrackers fused into it one inch apart.

The farmer hangs the rope from a pole and lights the bottom end. Each firecracker falls to the ground before exploding. One rope will protect a four to five acre area all day, Allen says, giving off blasts at regular intervals. Several days of the firecracker rope action, he adds, will keep the area clear of blackbirds permanently.

Urge Support Of Bloodmobile To Visit City Friday

The accompanying pictures were taken at the last visit of the Bloodmobile to Morgan county in April. On Friday of this week the unit will be in Jacksonville for one day only at the Masonic Temple. Morgan residents are strongly urged to respond to the quota and possibly top the required 175 pints. If you are over 18 and under 60, in good health, please phone the Red Cross office, 1844, and make an appointment during the hours of 12 noon to 6 p.m. daylight time. This assures a speedy visit and is a help to the volunteer assistants, doctors and nurses.

The top picture shows five can-teen workers filling water glasses at the many refreshment tables provided for donors after their giving blood. Left to right in the picture are, Mrs. Emma Lucas, Miss Nelle Doying, Mrs. R. W. Maxwell, Mrs. Herbert Lee and Mrs. Ben Montee.

The second picture is of Dr. Thomas L. Smith of Murrayville extending congratulations to Wilbur W. Smith, who had just obtained a two gallon record in donating blood. He has been given his second certificate and pin for the accomplishment.

The third picture shows Mrs. Wilbur Kurtz in the process of the necessary clerical and typing work.

that precedes the donor's giving of blood. Records are made of each donor and filed according to classification at the Red Cross office. Mrs. Kurtz is helping Fred L. Connors. Others in the picture are, standing, left to right, Mrs. J. L. Bunch, Miss Nelle Doying and in the background, Mrs. Harold Stewart of Ashland.

Chain Phone Calls To Plea For Safe Fourth

Members of the two local women's clubs within the Federation of Women's Clubs are joining the national life-saving project of the federation based this year on a chain of personal telephone calls on Wednesday, June 29 and 30. The chain telephoning is a special enterprise in cooperation with President Eisenhower's committee for traffic safety.

Clubmembers will appeal for special care and courtesy in driving on streets and highways over the three day Fourth of July weekend.

Every individual member of the General Federation's 15,000 local federated clubs across the country is being urged to take part in this all out effort to reduce the death and injury toll in traffic over the hazardous holiday period. Last year the nation's celebration of Independence Day was marred by the loss of 348 lives in traffic accidents.

Members of the Junior Woman's club executive board have already pledged themselves to call four friends, club members or otherwise, and urge caution and care over the holiday. Those four called will be asked to do likewise and continue the process thereby fanning out the word of caution to hundreds throughout the community.

Mrs. J. Allen Biggs, president of the Jacksonville Woman's club appeals to her members also to follow this pattern asking each party called to in turn call four more friends or neighbors appealing for safety over the Fourth holiday.

At 10:30 a.m. on June 29 every federated clubmember, acting under direction of her local club, will be expected to make the first of four phone calls spreading the traffic safety appeal. Each recipient of a call will be asked to call four others, so that as the chain spreads millions of homes will be reached. All calls are expected to be completed within two days.

Local churches are asked to ring the bells at the kickoff hour to signal clubmembers to make their first phone call. Pastors will also make an appeal from their pulpits Sunday, June 26, for safety on the highway over the holiday.

Fireworks Display After Stock Car Races July 4th

Stock Car Commissioner Charles Finch of the Morgan County Fair Association has announced there will be a fireworks display presented following the Stock Car Races scheduled for the Fourth of July at the fairgrounds, west of the city.

Adverse weather conditions this season has curtailed much of the stock car race action on the west side track. Summer conditions should improve and Commissioner Finch has obtained the fireworks display as a special free treat for all race fans.

The regular races will also be run on Friday, July 1st, as well as the weekend doubleheader on Monday, July 4.

Badly Wrecked Auto Found Near Woodson

A demolished automobile, a 1939 Dodge sedan, stood in the lot of Morgan County Motors Monday morning and state police said that it was unclaimed.

The license on the car had been issued to Gene Day of Roodhouse. When it was wrecked about midnight Saturday it occasioned considerable excitement. A passerby phoned the sheriff's office that the car was upside down and that there were "at least six people in it."

State Highway Patrolman Clyde Vasconcellos, the sheriff's night car and Cooney's ambulance sped to the scene, the "Deadman's Corner" on old Route 67 north of Woodson.

The car was in mighty bad shape. The rear end had been torn out and it was lying along the road. The gas tank was found 50 feet further and what was left of the car was another 50 feet away.

One person told investigating police that the driver had gotten into a southbound car. He said that he did not know the driver, nor the people in the other car.

FALSE CRIME

DENVER (AP)—Police put a stop to what they called the youngest con game in Denver. A woman reported her son told her a young friend of his was selling marijuana cigarettes.

Police picked up a 14-year-old boy with two cigarettes. He said he had bought them from an 8-year-old friend.

The 14-year-old bragged that he had a bargain, too. The 8-year-old charged him only 50 cents each. The going price for marijuana cigarettes is about $1.25.

Police started after the 8-year-old for a good stiff talk with the boy and his parents. Meanwhile, Detective John Moritz examined the cigarettes. They contained nothing but black tea.

Big reason why Buick sales are soaring to new all-time highs!

No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the road today—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever—outstripping the phenomenal success that moved Buick into the Top 3 of America's best sellers.

That must mean Buick's a buy—a great buy—and that it's well within reach of more and more people.

For proof, just look at the Buick SPECIAL pictured here—and at its local delivered price.

You can see for yourself how little a Buick really costs—and that the dollar difference between this strapping big beauty and the well-known smaller cars is just about wiped out.

But low price alone is not the key to Buick success. It's how much automobile you get for your money in a

Buick—more automobile than the same dollars buy elsewhere.

More styling boldness—more comfort and luxury—more size and roadability—more sheer power thrill—more ride stability and steadiness—more brawn and heft and solidity.

More choice, too, from Buick's full line of cars—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the big-power CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Come in for a first-hand look at the biggest-selling Buick of all time.

Once you check into it, see how much real automobile your money buys here—then take the wheel and press that pedal—you'll know why Buick's the buy and the thrill of the year.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70 Radio & Antenna—$92.50

DID YOU KNOW—

- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three most well-known smaller cars?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL includes as standard equipment at no extra cost a long list of items usually charged for as "extras" by other cars—items such as direction signals, automatic lighting of glove compartment, variable speed windshield wipers with vacuum booster, and so on?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

XXXI
SHAYNE hung up and turned to the doorway into the living room where Rourke and Agnew were talking.

He said, "We'll be back another time, Joe. I bet you've got plenty more stories to tell, you being a hunkie with a sort of sixth sense about trouble. But Tim Rourke's got to make a deadline to file his story all about how you helped solve two murders. But before we run, Joe, is that right what you said about bringing your cab home at night and always being on call if one of your customers needs you in an emergency?"

"It sure is, Mr. Shayne," Joe Agnew assured him earnestly. "Couple times a week, maybe, I get a call like that. I never charge but the regular fare for it, but I will say most people do dish out a fat tip for the extra service."

"I'll keep your name and phone number in mind, Joe," Shayne wrung his hand hard and started toward the door. "Don't suppose you'd mind a little free advertising on that, would you? Makes a good human interest touch, don't you think, Tim?"

Tim Rourke, who had not uttered a word since entering the house ostensibly to interview Joe Agnew, muttered that he guessed it would, and thanked Joe for the beer, and then hurried out after Shayne who was already getting in his car.

and number. And I wasn't fooling about giving Joe some free advertising about his extracurricular activities if anybody calls him at home at night to make an extra trip. Be sure you get that in. Such enterprise should be rewarded."

"Are you serious, Mike? Dick Farrel won't like my telling him what to say on the air."

"I'm serious. Ram it down his throat, Tim. Take the microphone away from him, do the broadcast yourself if you have to. But get that stuff on the air at 1 o'clock."

Timothy Rourke didn't argue with him. Many times in the past, hearing the end of a case, he had seen this same change come over the rangy private detective.

SHAYNE parked two houses away from the one he wanted, got out and went along the sidewalk briskly and up to the front door which no longer had a police guard. He opened the door and went in as though he belonged there, found himself in a small hallway lit by a dingy bulb, with stairs leading to the two upper floors on his left.

He climbed one flight, looked for a number on the first door and found it was 21. It was dark, but light came through the transom from number 23, and the sound of a radio being played softly.

Two Boys Die When Dirt Wall Falls Into Excavation

NEW YORK (AP)—Two boys were buried alive Sunday night when the dirt wall of an excavation in a Queens housing project collapsed on them.

Two others were pulled to safety before they sank into the wet earth.

Police emergency and rescue units sped to the scene, where a group of passers-by, attracted by the screams of one of the boys, were digging with bare hands. A crowd of some 2,000 persons soon gathered.

Saved from the mucky dirt were Billy Cotton, 5, who was buried up to his neck, and Nathaniel Brown, 11.

Rescuers reached too late Billy's brother John, 11, and Angel Matos, 7.

The mother of the Cotton boys, Mrs. Evelyn Cotton, who was at the scene, collapsed when the bodies were pulled out.

Except for Matos, all the boys were Negroes.

Sports World Shocked At Death Of Harry Agganis

Nichols Park Open Pairings Announced; Chumley Top Qualifier

Perk Chumley fired a 69 to lead all comers as 63 golfers qualified for the annual Nichols Park Open Golf Tournament which gets under way immediately. Right behind Chumley was A. H. Burton who fired a 70. Last year's winner James Buckley and the runner-up, Floyd Craft, are automatic qualifiers for this year's tourney.

Nichols Park Pro Wood Phillips has announced pairings for four flights—one more than last year. Golfers have entered this year's event from all over the Jacksonville trade area including, Ashland, Waverly, Winchester, Roodhouse and White Hall.

The Park Pro also indicated the first round play must be completed by July 10.

Don't Intend To Retire: Babe Zaharias

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias smiled from her hospital bed Monday and said, "I don't intend to retire from the golfing world until I meet somebody who is better than I am—and I haven't found that person yet."

She made that statement to reporters only a few hours after doctors removed stitches from the incision made when she underwent spinal surgery June 22 in the University of Texas' John Sealy Hospital here.

The Babe, a star of women's sports most of the time since 1930, called a press conference for the first time since she entered the hospital several weeks ago for correction of a ruptured spinal disc.

She wore pink silk tailored pajamas and had her light brown hair meticulously combed into a long bob.

Her golfing gear stood near the bed and she assured reporters she would be back using the clubs "as soon as my doctors say I can."

"I love golfing more than anything in the world—next to George," she grinned. Her husband, ex-wrestler George Zaharias, has been a constant companion during her illness.

Her room was filled with flowers, marking both the illness and her 42nd birthday, which she celebrated Sunday.

CHUCK COMISKEY IN MEMPHIS TO SELL CHICKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Chicago White Sox Vice President Charles Comiskey III was flying Monday to sell The Memphis Chicks to a couple of business men.

The Chicks, now leading the close-packed Southern Assn., will be optioned to wealthy meatpacker, Nat Buring and Atty. Leo Burson. The sale won't be effective until Sept. 15, when the season ends.

well ahead of runnerup Nellie Fox of Chicago. Fox climbed 10 points to 339. Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers slumped 23 points to 320.

In the National League, Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn increased his average one point to .353 while maintaining his edge over runnerup Don Mueller of New York and Roy Campanella of Brooklyn. They are deadlocked for the No. 2 slot at .338. Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati is fourth with .333.

Kluszewski hit two homers last week to the Brooklyn's Duke Snider. Each has walked 23. Snider is the circuit's runs batted in leader with 71.

Williams, who missed Boston's last four games because of a back injury, is batting .387 with 29 hits in 75 at bats. He virtually has no chance of batting 400 times, the total necessary to qualify for the batting championship.

Kaline, Ashburn Top Major League Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—The resurgence of the Boston Red Sox partly can be attributed to the increased power production of outfielder Jackie Jensen.

While Ted Williams has been getting most of the credit for the spurt which has seen Boston win 19 of its last 28 games, Jensen has batted in 29 runs during that span to take over the American League's RBI lead with 55.

Jensen, with seven homers since May 28 for a total of 15, has taken over third place in that department. He trails New York's Mickey Vernon, the pacesetter with 19, and Gus Zernial of Kansas City, who has 16. Jensen is batting .284.

Detroit's Al Kaline, however, continues to hold a commanding lead in the batting competition, despite a 14-point drop to .365 last week, the sophomore outfielder is

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

The Morgan County Racing Association has certainly had its share of tough luck. Three times this year the Friday night's stock car racing program has been canceled because of rain and at least on two other occasions the threatening weather has taken its toll of the gate receipts even though the races were held without being rained out.

It's too bad the weather hasn't held up this year since the Board spent extra money this spring on improvements with the belief this season's racing program would top all previous years in both excitement and gate receipts. The excitement has been there but the bad weather has curtailed attendance. However, this is nothing a few good nights of racing can't cure.

The last race held on the local track was evidently the best of the season. It is our belief when fans are still talking about a sports event one week after it has taken place it is worth checking into. That's the way the race that was held a week ago last Friday struck this corner. Fans were still talking about it this past week. Those thrills and spills can't be topped.

A Jacksonville boy who is making quite a name for himself as Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois is appearing on film at the local Illinois Theatre. The gent we are speaking of is Gaylord Spots who is starring in a short subject called "Punts and Stunts". Gaylord provides the stunts as he goes through his antics that are so familiar to those attending a U. of I. grid battle.

Women wrestlers have finally broken the ice in Illinois and will be on the program at Lanphier Park in Springfield Wednesday night. One of the girls who was instrumental in seeing to it women got a chance to wrestle in Illinois, Rose Roman, is on the Springfield card. We expect the girls to be on a Jacksonville card sometime in September.

Dodgers Trip Cards 6-2 In Elks' Loop

The Dodgers pushed across four runs in the 11th inning to defeat the Cards 6-2 in the longest game of the year in the Elks' Boys' League baseball program. The Dodgers scored their winning four markers on an error, a walk and doubles by Johnson and Hadden plus a single by Darwent.

In afternoon action the Oilers edged the Sports 18-17, the Eagles pounded the Indians 21-10 and the Red Sox outlasted the Yanks 13-11.

4 Ring Managers Suspended

NEW YORK (AP)—Four ring managers were suspended indefinitely Monday for failure to answer questions at a New York State Athletic Commission probe into the operations of the Boxing Guild of New York.

The managers were Bobby Melnick, who handles middleweight Ralph (Tiger) Jones; Gus D'Amato, pilot of light heavyweight contender Floyd Patterson; Bobby Nelson, former manager of welterweight Joe Miceli, and Charley Bauer.

The hearings will be concluded Tuesday. Julius Helfand, chairman of the commission, said he expects to make a decision in a "reasonably short time."

Americans Advance In Net Championships

By STERLING SLAPPEY WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Budge Patty and Tony Trabert—a pair of crafty Americans hitting all the shots in tennis—won quarterfinal matches at Wimbledon Monday with Patty proving he may be the man to fill America's Davis Cup needs.

Patty upset Lew Hoad, a stand-by on the last two Australian Davis Cup teams, with one of the finest, steady three-set victories seen in the 69th Wimbledon championships.

Patty, formerly of Los Angeles but now a resident of Paris, won 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

While he was whipping Hoad, Trabert was licking Jaroslav Drobny, the defending champion, 8-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Rosewall put out towering Sven Davidson of Sweden 6-4, 6-1, 6-2. With Vic Seixas' ailing shoulder a questionable proposition, non-playing Davis Cup captain Bill Talbot of New York has been on a semi-scouting trip here for two weeks looking for a possible Davis Cup player to fill in for Seixas.

America won the cup in Sydney last December.

Talbot said Patty had promised to "seriously consider returning home" to try and win a place on the Davis Cup team.

"I talked for a long time with Budge today. We need a reinforcement for the cup matches in the autumn at Forest Hills and if not Patty, then who?" Talbot asked.

The last time Patty played in the U. S. was in 1950. Since then he has lived in Paris and played tennis throughout the year on practically every continent except North America.

"Budge is not ranked in the U. S. this year," Talbot said. "But there is no bar to his being a member of the team. In fact, you don't have to live in the U. S. You just have to be an American."

Official Says Joe Louis Hired Wife As Manager

CHICAGO (AP)—A government lawyer said Monday that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis hired his former wife, Marva, as his manager in a 1945 settlement.

Marva, now married to Dr. Alford Spaulding of Chicago, testified she knew nothing about a management agreement outlined by the U. S. Solicitor Thomas J. Donnelly in a Tax Court hearing.

The government is asking that $65,000 held in trust for the two children of Louis and his former wife be applied toward a settlement of back income taxes which Donnelly said amount to $246,000 for 1946.

Mrs. Spaulding told Judge Allan Pierce that she and Louis signed an agreement one day before their 1945 divorce under which she was to receive one-fourth of his earnings, half of what she obtained to be used as a trust fund for their daughter, Jacqueline, now 12.

Atty. Aaron H. Payne representing the First National Bank of Chicago, told the court that besides the $30,000 fund for Jacqueline, Marva and Joe set up a similar trust fund in 1949, after their second marriage and divorce, for Joe Louis Jr., now 8. The money for the second trust fund, Payne said, came from the sale of mortgages Louis held on South Side real estate.

Louis, who has declared he hasn't enough money to pay the back taxes, is part owner of the Moulin Rouge Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., where he works as official host.

Red Sox First Baseman And Former Boston U. Star Dies At 25

By DAVE O'HARA CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The brilliant athletic career of Harry Agganis was ended abruptly Monday as the Boston Red Sox first baseman and former Boston University football great died at the age of 25.

Agganis, a rugged 6-2, 200-pounder, succumbed at Santa Maria Hospital while apparently recovering from a chest ailment which sidelined him for the first time exactly six weeks ago.

Agganis was hospitalized for more than a week in May, but returned to the lineup and played in two games June 1 and 2. He was stricken again and reentered the hospital June 5.

Doctors said in a statement they believed death was due to "a massive pulmonary embolism." They said the young athlete "had been making a slow but apparently satisfactory convalescence from a severe pulmonary infection complicated by phlebitis."

News of the death of the "Golden Greek" came as a shock to the entire sports world.

Agganis, after a brilliant sports career at Boston University, passed up professional football to sign with the Red Sox following his graduation in 1953. He was sent to Louisville in the American Assn.

Promoted to the Red Sox last year, he hit only .251, but had 11 homers, 8 triples, 13 doubles and 57 RBIs.

Agganis lost his starting job at first base at the beginning of this season but won it back after a short time.

He was hitting over .300 when he suddenly complained of chest pains and was hospitalized May 16. It was announced he was suffering from virus pneumonia in the right lung.

Harry was hospitalized for more than a week and remained out of action until June 1 when the Red Sox met the White Sox in Chicago. He connected for three hits.

Agganis sat out the next two games and on June 5 complained of chest pains again and flew back to Boston. He didn't appear seriously ill on his arrival home, but was taken immediately to the hospital.

The next day it was announced he was suffering from virus pneumonia in the other lung—the left. Dr. Eugene E. O'Neil said then that Agganis apparently started playing too soon after his first hospitalization.

A week ago, Dr. O'Neil reported that Agganis appeared to be recovering slowly.

Agganis compiled a brilliant record as a football and baseball player at Lynn Mass. Classical High School and was named to about every "all scholastic" team in Massachusetts.

He went on to Boston University where he continued his great play in both sports, although his football activities overshadowed his baseball ability.

After his sophomore season in 1949, when he set a school record by tossing 15 touchdown passes, Agganis entered the Marine Corps. He received a dependency discharge to support his mother and returned to college in 1951, when he set another B. U. mark by passing for 1,402 yards and was voted New England's outstanding football player.

In his senior year, Agganis suffered a painful chest injury as the Terriers were edged 14-13 by a powerful University of Maryland eleven. He returned to the lineup a few weeks later wearing a heavy cast on his chest.

Asked recently if he thought the injury might be the cause of his trouble this year, Agganis replied: "I don't think so."

Besides his mother, Agganis leaves four brothers and two sisters.

Agganis body will lie in state Tuesday night and Wednesday at St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, Lynn.

Services will be at 2 p.m. EDT Thursday with burial in Pine Grove Cemetery.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The corporate bond market fluctuated narrowly Monday, but U. S. government bonds were depressed.

Dealers of Treasury securities marked prices downward following a government announcement that they cash will be raised by increasing the weekly sale of 91-day bills by 100 million dollars.

Though the Treasury decision to sell more short term securities probably stems from the current shortage of these obligations in the money market, financial circles said the sale of additional bills would tend to shrink the supply of funds for government bonds.

Over the counter trading was slow. Corporate bonds were fairly steady. Most of the activity centered on convertible debentures, which presented a mixed pattern at the close. "Big Board" volume amounted to $3,790,000 par value compared with $3,540,000 Friday.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel shares advanced and some other issues showed wide advances but the rest of the stock market was narrowly mixed Monday.

The market worked lower during the morning, then improved as the afternoon wore on. It was in the final hour that the steel came to the fore, but buying in these issues failed to generate much enthusiasm in other sections of the list.

Brokers said some consolidation of recent gains was only to be expected. In addition, they commented that the steel wage negotiations provided a note of uncertainty for investors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 cents to $172.80. The industrial component moved up 20 cents to a new high of $237.40. The rails gained 10 cents and the utilities lost 10 cents.

Volume was small at 2,250,000 shares. On Friday, also a quiet day, 2,410,000 shares changed hands.

The American Stock Exchange also was mixed, although here, too, there was sizable gains in a few issues. Volume totaled 1,040,000 shares, up from 990,000 Friday.

Wheat Drops Gains Monday On Board

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED
CHICAGO (AP)—After advancing almost four cents a bushel on some contracts, wheat futures Monday lost a major portion of their gains. Trading was the most active in weeks.

Other grains and soybeans followed wheat higher on the opening, but then mostly fell back to hefty losses on a spate of crop improvement news.

Lard was independently weak at the opening, with a lower market for hogs, and sold off farther in one of the steepest declines of the season.

Wheat closed 1/4-1 1/4 cents higher, corn 3/4-1 1/4 lower, oats 1/4 lower and soybeans were 3/4 to 2 cents lower and lard 25 to 30 cents a hundred pounds less.

Wheat's big early rise came with weekend buying orders built around the grower referendum which Saturday approved a national average minimum support price of $1.81 a bushel on the 1956 crop.

While none of that crop is represented in the current futures contracts on the board, and the price is 25 cents lower than this year's minimum, many traders felt the aspect for wheat prices in general was improved by the referendum result.

A trade report that the soybeans crop now growing is in excellent condition and may reach a record 40 million bushels depressed the futures outlook for the bean crop. The downturn came in spite of higher prices for soybean meal.

Butcher weights of hogs sold from $18.00 to $21.00 usually but one deck averaging 205 pounds topped at $21.25. Sows took $13.25 to $17.75 in general, a few weighing below 300 pounds hitting $18.25.

A load of prime steers topped at $25.00 and other choice and prime offerings took $21.50 to $24.50. Good to prime heifers brought $19.00 to $24.00 but the best cows could do was $14.00 for commercials. Bulls remained at $16.50 downward while good to prime vealers took $19.00 to $24.00, the same as heifers.

With prime spring lambs missing from the consist, good and choice kinds went for $22.00 to $23.00. Three decks of good and choice short lambs merited $18.25 but the best price on choice slaughter ewes was down to $5.00 a hundred-weight.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—The largest Monday receipts of hogs in seven weeks carved another 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds off prices Monday. Trading was slow but clearance was fairly good with outside buyers taking one-fourth of the 10,000 hogs on sale.

Cattle were uneven. Price changes ranged from as much as 50 cents higher on lower grades of steers to as much as 50 cents lower on cows. Vealers and sheep were steady.

State Police Increase Measure Passes Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The Illinois Senate Monday approved a bill increasing the size of the 500-member state police force to 600.

A vote of 43 to 1 sent the measure to Gov. Stratton, who recommended it in his legislative program. Lawmakers supporting the enlargement said that more state police are needed to patrol the expanding highway system carrying a greater volume of traffic.

The Senate also passed two House bills relaxing overloading restrictions on trucks and increasing the maximum length of truck-trailer combinations from 45 to 50 feet.

The overloading bill permits a trucker without penalty to exceed the 18,000-pound axle weight limit by 5 per cent or up to 1,000 pounds if the overload is due to an unavoidable shifting of cargo.

In addition, the measure repeals a 1951 statute providing for suspension of road privileges of truckers who commit 10 over-weight violations within a year.

The Senate passed a bill dealing with the Civil Practice Act after striking a House provision permitting libel suits to be filed by a person in the county where he resides if the newspaper is circulated there.

The present law allows libel suits only in the county where the newspaper is published. The bill returned to the House for approval of the Senate change.

A House bill to authorize townships to use motor fuel tax allocations for maintenance of township roads was defeated by the Senate.

Among House bills approved by the Senate were those which: Create a legislative commission to make a study of admission and discharge of mental hospital patients.

Continue the Mississippi Scenic Parkway Commission another two years.

Increase amounts county fairs can obtain for rehabilitating their grounds from the agricultural premium fund.

Give state employees a three-week vacation after 15 years' service.

Require all new trucks after July 1, 1956 be equipped with directional lights.

Band Director At Beardstown Resigns Post

The band director at the Beardstown high school, Harold W. Dodd, with the school system for the past seven years, has resigned his position and accepted a new appointment at the Brimfield school, west of Peoria. The announcement was made Saturday by the Beardstown superintendent of schools, W. L. Gard.

Another teacher, Miss Eida Greve, instructor of home-making in the Beardstown high school, has announced her resignation. She is retiring from teaching after a career of thirty years in the Beardstown school.

This leaves two vacancies to be filled in the Beardstown school system before the opening of the fall term in September.

Mr. Dodd will become superintendent of the school unit district 300, which is twenty miles west of Peoria. The appointment is effective July 1st. He has arranged to divide his time between Beardstown and Brimfield during the month of July so that he can continue with the municipal band work and complete the courses he has underway for the Beardstown summer band students.

Mrs. Dodd has been employed as the office secretary at the high school in Brimfield. The family will move from Beardstown in August.

The popular band director stated he regretted leaving Beardstown but he was going to Brimfield at a considerable increase in salary and as a school supervisor in a field in which he is now qualified.

Stratton Denies Sixty Executive Clemency Appeals

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Stratton Monday denied the executive clemency petition of John Provancher, sentenced in 1948 from Winnebago County to a 25-year term for murder.

Provancher was convicted of murdering Andrew Sorensen, a Chemung, Ill., tavern operator.

The governor, acting on the recommendation of the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board, also turned down the clemency appeal of Col. Ellsworth Newton, a Paris, Mo., minister convicted of murder in 1937.

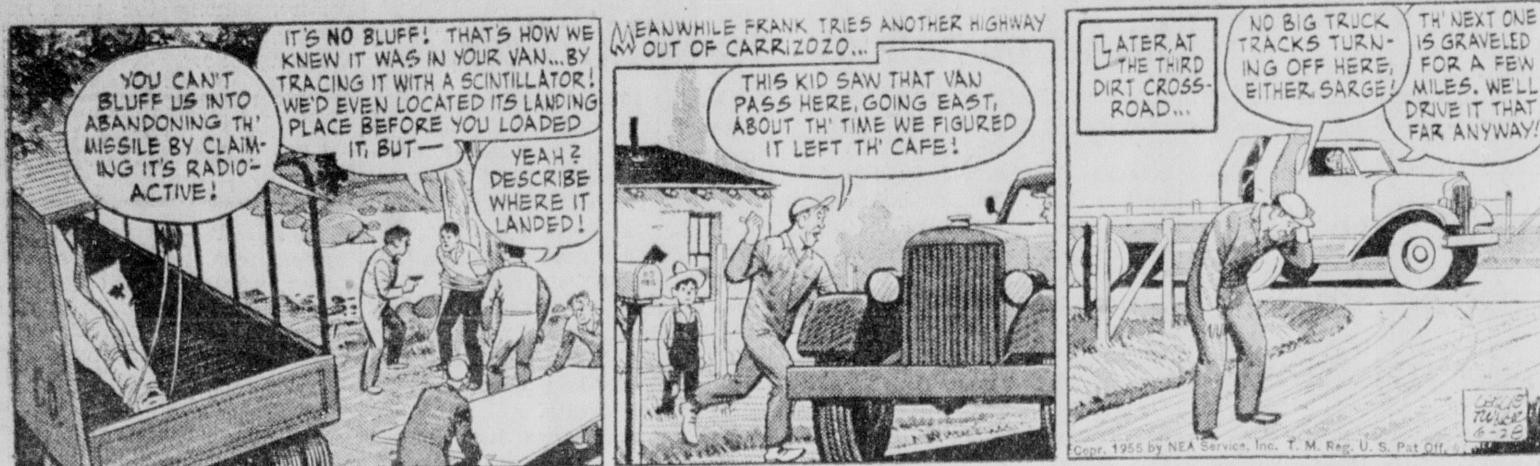

Newton was found guilty and sentenced to life in the slaying of May Belle Kelley, whose body was found on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River near the Mark Twain Bridge at Hannibal.

Fifty-eight other petitions were denied by the governor, including those from the following down-state persons sentenced for murder:

Ivan V. DeSilva, Cass County; Walter Ferguson, Will; Donald Keene, Kane; Herbert Spring, Stephenson; Donald Vikre, Lake; Fred Benner, White; Alfred Brown, St. Clair; Everett Madden, Vermilion; Harold Nail, St. Clair; Roy Stewart, Peoria; Richard Martin Wesolik, McHenry;

Mr. Green complimented the Girl Staters and staff upon the splendid manner in which the affairs of the organization are being conducted.

The speaker told the audience of the present status of legislation in the 69th General Assembly. In speaking of veteran legislators, men and women who have been honored with re-election many times, he stated that such members are regular in attendance, active in committee work, take part in debates and discussions on the floor of the House, introduce, work and vote for good legislation and against bad, and pointed out that such members are always readily available to their constituents concerning pending or proposed legislation or any other matter of interest.

Mr. Green pointed out that dependability, accuracy, good judgment, sensible habits, no foolishness on the job and a willingness to accept responsibility seem to constitute the qualities which are uppermost in the minds of those long time members.

The speaker stressed the importance of individual responsibility and drew upon history to emphasize his point. He observed that Thomas Jefferson was elected President by one vote in the electoral college and that the same was true of John Quincy Adams. Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President in 1876 by one vote in the electoral commission, a vote of an Indiana lawyer, member of Congress who, in turn had been elected by one vote, being taken by a client of his, who, though desperately ill, insisted upon being taken to the polls. He cited other examples in history showing that, on various occasions, one vote has been the deciding factor.

Representative Green expressed his deep appreciation at being invited to speak at Girls State for so many years and assured them that he was very happy to note the growth in membership from 290 in 1940 to 492 in 1935.

Radio 'Hams' Stand 24 Hour Field Vigil

A total of 76 different field day radio set-ups in 19 states were contacted from 4 p. m. Saturday to 4 p. m. Sunday by Jacksonville radio amateurs participating in National Field Day. The local "hams" ran four sets at the Boy Scout cabin on Lake Jacksonville.

The annual field day is designed to give amateur operators experience in communication work under emergency conditions, afieled from their ordinary installations.

The local unit contacted field stations located from Rhode Island to western Texas. Operators exchanged the location of the field stations, the weather and temperatures and signal strength.

Texas reported very warm weather it was chilly in the East and one New York state unit operating on the Atlantic shore declared "we are freezing to death."

The four stations in the local unit operated on different amateur wave bands under the temporary call letters W9FIF. A copy of the full report will be sent to the American Radio Relay League headquarters, West Hartford, Conn., to check and confirm.

The 24-hour-watch closed with a potluck dinner prepared by the wives.

Today the girls journey to Springfield for a tour of government offices and historical spots.

The group will depart from Jacksonville by chartered bus at 8:30 this morning. Upon arrival in Springfield, Girls State state officers will visit the offices of their "real life" counterparts. Later, the entire group will look in on a session of each the state house and senate.

Following a lunch in Washington Park, the girls will go to the executive mansion, where Gov. Stratton will greet them. Visits to Lincoln's home and tomb will conclude the day in the state capital.

Upon return to Jacksonville the girls will gather for the last time in MacMurray's Annie Merner chapel for a final program, during which complete reports of Girls State activities this year will be read, awards made, and delegates to Girls Nation announced.

Perhaps most prized among the awards is one for high score average on a series of tests the girls have taken during the week on the various phases of state government they have studied.

Two of the 454 will be selected delegates to Girls Nation, to be held in Washington, D. C., August 4-10. At each of the 48 Girls States sponsored across the nation by the American Legion Auxiliary, two delegates are chosen to Girls Nation. The 96 spend more than a week in the capital, visiting departments of the federal government and historical spots in and around the city. They will live on the American University campus.

Monday the girls operated the government they set up during the past week. A feature of the afternoon was a shopping tour of Jacksonville, and in the evening Illinois Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter spoke before a general assembly in Annie Merner chapel.

Before the evening meal, the girls took the last in a week-long series of quizzes on various aspects of state government.

Following Carpenter's address, the delegates adjourned to the music hall for "talent night," at which a number of the girls displayed their skill as entertainers.

Wednesday morning the imaginary "49th state" will pass from existence for another year as the girls board buses for homes in all parts of Illinois.

School Trustees Deny Land Transfer Request

The Morgan County Board of School Trustees voted 6-1 Monday afternoon to deny a petition to transfer 27 sections of land in Macoupin county from the Northwestern Consolidated school district to the Waverly district.

The dissenting vote was cast by Mrs. Louise Harris of Jacksonville. Voting to deny the transfer request were Chairman Wallace T. Hembrough, Mrs. Alma Smith, Roscoe Mawson and Bob Houston of Jacksonville, Edward Middendorf of Chapin and Alfred Hodgson of Waverly.

The proposed tract has a valuation of more than 3,000,000, with 90 elementary school pupils and 25 high school pupils.

In Best Interest

The majority members said that they felt that the proposal should be denied in the best interest of the children of the area.

"Now," they said, "the Northwestern unit can further plans for a new high school and junior high school building. We feel that when it is completed the district will have a good, sound educational system."

The residents in the Northwestern district Saturday, June 18, approved the purchase of a 23 acre building lot located at the northern outskirts of Palmyra.

Follows Hearings

The decision to deny the request followed intensive study of the situation by the trustees. Two public hearings were held on the subject, with 10 witnesses testifying.

City Council Charts Plan For New Street To Run Along Brook

The Jacksonville City council last night transacted considerable routine business, designated a proposed new street as an arterial highway so that it can qualify for motor fuel tax funds, gave first reading to three proposed ordinances, bought a new dump truck for the highway department and adjourned to Tuesday, July 5.

All members of the council, with the exception of Alderman DeFrates who was called out of the city by the death of a relative, were present and all measures were passed by unanimous consent.

The council passed a resolution, absolving the state of Illinois of all liability in putting the new 24" pipeline under South Main street, which is a state highway, and another transferring $5,000 from the parking meter fund to the general fund.

Alderman Kelly introduced a resolution designating a street to be built along the north side of the brook, from Diamond street to Lincoln avenue, as an arterial highway. This move had been recommended by the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings.

The aldermen noted that the building of the new school in the southwest part of the city will bring a new traffic problem and that the city owns the right of way along the entire length of the brook. There is a possibility that the street will be extended to South Main street in the near future, they said. City Engineer Casler estimated that the Diamond-Lincoln stretch would cost around $60-70,000.

Four Bids Received

Four auto dealers in the city submitted bids for a 1½ ton dump truck that met advertised specifications. Morgan County Motors bid $2,393.52; John Ellis, $2,130.30; Lukeman Motor company, $2,301.40 and Byer Bros., $2,301.

After a consultation of the highway committee, and upon its recommendation, the council voted to accept the John Ellis Chevrolet bid.

Three proposed ordinances received first reading. They were:

1. A 25 year franchise to the Illinois Telephone company, with the company granting free use of some of their facilities for police communication and fire alarm systems and an annual payment of $2,750 to the city.

2. An ordinance to resurface West State street from Church street to Webster avenue, with widening of the street up to the tree line in front of the high school to facilitate loading and unloading school buses and a new street lighting system along the improved stretch. The estimated cost for the job is $96,502.32.

3. An ordinance to widen S. Clay avenue, from E. State street to E. College avenue, from its present 28 foot width to 40 feet, with new curbs, new surface and street lighting. The estimated cost of this one-block improvement was set at $24,490.30, which brought whistles of distress from some of the aldermen.

To Share Expense

The street improvements will be built with the aid of motor fuel tax funds, at the approximate proportion of 70% by the city and 30% by the property owners.

After the reading of the West State street improvement ordinance Alderman Rowe and Alderman Mathews questioned whether the city was paying its full share of the load on that project.

"These properties are being taxed to the hilt now," Rowe said. "It has always been so, because they were the fine houses years ago. Now they are the old houses and are entitled to some relief."

Mathews concurred, asserting that the city should pay at least 80% of the improvement costs.

Mayor Hoagland, as president of the board of local improvements, stated that the city would pay about 75% of the street improvements, but only about 30% of the street lighting system, for an average of about 70-30.

"The board is trying to be fair to all the people in all parts of the city," he asserted.

The council voted that the ordinances be placed in the city clerk's office for public inspection until next meeting time.

Think Cop Found Dead In Woman's Flat Killed Self

CHICAGO (P)—A policeman was found shot to death Monday in a woman's apartment and investigators said they believe he killed himself.

The body of Matthew Boland, 54, a park district officer, was found shortly before noon. It was clad only in shorts. The discovery was made by Louise M. Wegner, on her return to her South Side apartment. Boland's pistol lay at his side.

Capt. James Gorman said she told him Boland appeared all right when she left at 8 a.m. Boland's brother, Raymond, also a park policeman, said Matthew had suffered a nervous breakdown recently. He had served in the Navy from 1942 to 1945 and had been on sick leave from the police force since May.

Boland had joined the force May 22, 1932, and received many awards and citations for bravery and courtesy.
